

Jeannie Richardson (right), State Representative for the VECA area, and former State Representative Mary Wilder, are shown providing a state grant to the V&E Greenline for adding water and sewer to the V&E Greenline Stationhouse.

The grant will cover a portion of the cost, with the remainder to be raised through community contributions. The Stationhouse is used for neighborhood events (see the Neighbors for Trees Festival below) and for volunteers who work on the Greenline. Representative Richardson was pleased to help nonprofits such as the V&E Greenline to deliver services which needed and desired by the neighborhood.

The V&E Greenline is a walking trail used by residents of many neighborhoods—and even visitors from outside the city. The trail is a place to walk, walk dogs, jog and bike, meet neighbors, commute to work/school, and enjoy nature. The V&E Greenline is a volunteer project that depends upon contributions from residents and users of the trail.
